SECTION 1 – INTRODUCTION

This section provides an overview of the document content, as well as a description of how the information is arranged.

1.1 Purpose

The purpose of this desk guide is to provide guidance to National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) Human Resources Offices (HROs) when determining whether and/or to what extent formal disciplinary action is necessary in dealing with issues of employee misconduct.

1.2 Applicability

This desk guide is applicable to NASA Headquarters and NASA Centers, including Component Facilities, the NASA Shared Services Center (NSSC), and the Office of the Inspector General (OIG). Unless otherwise stated, the use of the word Center(s) in the text of this desk guide includes NASA Headquarters and the NSSC, and any reference to Center Director(s) includes the Assistant Administrator for Infrastructure and Administration and the Executive Director, NSSC.

This desk guide is for use by NASA Center HROs. While other departments may be mentioned, the instructions and procedures are specifically meant for Human Resources (HR) personnel.

1.3 About This Document

This document contains a table of disciplinary offenses and penalties, as well as references to applicable regulations and policies. For brevity and readability, the full regulation titles are not included in the body of the document. Please refer to Section 2, References, for a full listing of the referenced documents, including document numbers and titles.

All acronyms are spelled out on first reference (unless in a table) and thereafter, the acronym is used. Appendix A, Acronyms and Abbreviations, contains a list of acronyms used in this guide and the applicable meanings.

SECTION 2 – REFERENCES

Various regulations govern disciplinary offenses and penalties. The following references were used in the preparation of this desk guide:

SECTION 3 – DEFINITIONS

- a. Formal Discipline: Formal disciplinary actions include written reprimands, suspensions, reductions in grade or pay, and removals. The term “reprimand” means a written reprimand, which is filed in the employee’s Official Personnel Folder (OPF), for a period of up to 2 years. The term “removal” has the meaning assigned in 5 CFR 432 and the terms “suspension,” “grade,” and “pay” have the meanings assigned in 5 USC 7501 and 5 USC 7511.
- b. Informal Discipline: Informal disciplinary actions are oral or written admonishments and are not made a matter of record in the employee’s OPF. However, such discipline, along with other relevant information such as memoranda for the record, the supervisor’s notes, and letters of instruction, may be considered when determining an appropriate penalty for a current offense.
- c. Days: As listed in the NASA Table of Disciplinary Offenses and Penalties, “days” means calendar days.
- d. Table: In this guide, “Table” refers to the NASA Table of Disciplinary Offenses and Penalties found in Section 5 of this document.

SECTION 4 – GUIDANCE

4.1 Identifying and Describing Offenses

The Table is not intended to cover every possible type of offense or to provide a series of prescriptions to be matched. For example, if a particular offense listed in the Table is not appropriate as a description of the offense committed, do not try to “force fit” the description to a match with the Table, but describe it in terms appropriate to the situation. (However, the description of the offense, once decided upon, should remain the same for all subsequent written references to the offense.) Some of the items listed in the Table combine several offenses, separated by semicolons or connected by the word “or” in one statement. When describing charges against a particular employee, use only the applicable part of a listed offense. Write charges to the standards of specificity required by the Merit Systems Protection Board (MSPB). Supervisors should be advised to seek assistance from their Center’s HR staff to ensure adherence to these standards.

4.2 Determining Penalties

1. The ranges of penalties shown in the Table are those that are considered to be most typical for offenses of the nature indicated. The Table provides for more serious penalties for second and subsequent incidents of employee misconduct. This is in keeping with progressive discipline, with the focus being on rehabilitating employees by taking the least serious corrective action necessary to ensure that further offenses are not committed. In considering the time frame for determining whether an offense is a second or subsequent offense, the usual “reckoning period” is within 4 years preceding the date of the current offense. Nevertheless, if previous offenses were serious in nature or represent a pattern of misconduct, a longer period of time may be considered. Note that a subsequent offense does not have to be a repeat of the first offense (e.g., if an employee is disciplined for being Absent Without Leave (AWOL) and then faces charges of insubordination, the latter penalty can be considered as a second offense). The first action could include a statement such as “Future incidents of this or other misconduct may result in more severe disciplinary action possibly including removal from the Federal Service.”
2. The penalty for a given offense may be less than the minimum penalty shown, or greater than the maximum penalty shown in the Table. This depends largely on whether, and to what extent, the “Douglas” factors come into play or how egregious the act was. In the case of Douglas vs. Veterans Administration, 5 MSPR 280 (1981), the following factors may influence the decision as to whether any formal disciplinary action should be imposed at all, or whether such action might be less severe (mitigating) or more severe (aggravating) than the typical range shown in the Table. There is no requirement to address all of these factors; consider only those which apply:
  - a. The nature and seriousness of the offense and its relation to the employee’s duties, position, or responsibilities, including whether the offense was intentional, technically inadvertent, committed maliciously or for gain, and how frequently it was repeated;
  - b. The employee’s job level and type of employment, including supervisory or fiduciary role, contacts with the public, and prominence of the position;
  - c. The employee’s past disciplinary record;

- d. The employee's past work record, including length of service, performance on the job, ability to get along with fellow workers, and dependability;
- e. The effect of the offense upon the employee's ability to perform at a satisfactory level and its effect upon supervisor's confidence in the employee's ability to perform assigned duties;
- f. The consistency of the penalty with those imposed upon other employees for the same or similar offenses;
- g. The consistency of the penalty with any applicable Agency table of penalties;
- h. The notoriety of the offense or its impact upon the reputation of the Agency;
- i. The clarity with which the employee was on notice of any rules that were violated in committing the offense or had been warned about the conduct in question;
- j. The potential for the employee's rehabilitation;
- k. Mitigating circumstances surrounding the offense, such as unusual job tensions, personality problems, mental impairment, harassment, or bad faith, malice, or provocation on the part of others involved in the matter; and
- l. The adequacy and effectiveness of alternative sanctions to deter such conduct in the future by the employee or others.

4.3 Penalties

Penalties for offenses are listed in Section 5, NASA Table of Disciplinary Offenses and Penalties. Penalties for offenses not listed should be determined by the supervisor in consultation with the Center's HR staff. Generally, such penalties should be consistent with the range of penalties shown for comparable offenses listed in the Table, unless application of the Douglas factors supports a penalty outside that range or if a statutory penalty applies such as willful misuse of a Government vehicle. In addition, actions taken on the basis of off-duty misconduct must show a nexus between the offense(s) and the efficiency of the Government service. Consider, also, the need for reasonable accommodation and/or firm choice when there are health or related factors.

4.4 Alternative Discipline

There may be other actions taken in lieu of formal discipline which are the equivalent of formal discipline and are part of the disciplinary process. Examples include, but are not limited to, settlement agreements or letters that state they are in lieu of whatever formal discipline that would normally be imposed.
